Parallel Parking To Be Enforced On Fourth Ave.

The Texas Highway Department has requested that the City of Canyon enforce the Ordinance requiring that all parking on Fourth Avenue designated at Highway 217, be single line parallel parking on the standpoint of traffic safety. As soon as signs can be painted and installed, which Mayor W. A. Warren indicated would be this week, parallel parking will be in effect, and penalty for violation will be enforced.

Violation of other traffic rules has been brought to the attention of Mayor Warren, such as the north bound traffic making a left turn and cutting across the street to park in front of the Post Office, and making complete turns at the intersections of the Square. These violations are known to be every day occurences, and are considered very dangerous practices as well as being strictly against all traffic rules.

According to Mayor Warren, a policeman will be on duty, and all citizens are asked to cooperate in following safe driving rules.

Trial Not Held Because of Error In Indictment

Martin was charged in connection with the burglary of Taylor and Sons Store, June 8. His companion, Ray Eugene McFarlan was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary after pleading guilty to charges of burglary.

Martin was remanded to the Potter County jail pending further action by the Grand Jury.

MISS ELEANOR C. BOYD

New Dean of women, to assume her duties the first of September, will be Miss Eleanor C. Boyd, announces President J. A. Hill.

Currently vocational, educational, personal and psychiatric counselor and associate instructor in the department of psychology at George Washington University, Washington, D. C., Miss Boyd is a Texan. She received B. S., B. A., and M. A. degrees from Texas State College for Women, Denton, with majors in social science, education, art and psychology.

Besides teaching experience, which includes five years at East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce, she served as counselor of civilian employees in both War and Navy Departments during the war in Dallas, Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D. C.

Besides serving as dean of women, Miss Boyd will have classes in either English, education or speech, according to Dr. Hill. She has had considerable training in the field of speech defects and their correction.

She was chosen to succeed Mrs. Geraldine Green, who resigned last week after serving as Dean of Women for the past 19 years.

Local fishermen have finally found out what became of the "big one that got away." Andy Walsh caught it one day last week while fishing in Palo Duro Creek, east of Canyon.

FINDS OLD CARD

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hawes of this city were: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Roberts and children of California; Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Weddington and children; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Weddington and children of Borger, and Mr. and Mrs. Whit Weddington and children of Amarillo.

Specialist Holds Irrigation School For Farm Group

A one-day irrigation school was held at Canyon, July 22, in the Randall County Courthouse, when Ivan D. Wood, Irrigation Specialist with Soil Conservation Service and Extension of Denver, Colorado, explained many points regarding irrigation to the group.

M. K. Thornton, Agricultural Chemist, A. & M. College Extension Service, College Station, discussed the possibility of fertilizing, both dry land and irrigated land for greater yields. H. E. Shahan, County Agent, stated that five demonstrations will be conducted this coming year on applying fertilizer to wheat. These demonstrations will be in different part of the county, so we will get an overal picture of the different soil types and conditions.

The group visited M. T. Maddux's place during the afternoon. Many points of interest were discussed. Mr. Wood tested the well and found it to be exceptionally good, producing between 990 and 1000 gallons per minute.

"Another school is being planned," stated Shahan, "but will include every phase of farming and livestock production in Randall county. The dates have not been set but will be announced later."

Lions Club To Send Delegates To Convention

Considerable attention is being focused on the local Lions Club due to the fact that it is sending three official delegates and one unofficial delegate as representatives to the International Lions Convention to be held in San Francisco the last week of July.

The president, A. Kirk Knott, and J. B. (Bud) Hickman, will drive through, taking several days off for vacation side trips. Nealy Cox will go by train traveling along the Northern route and returning the Southern route. He will also include several scenic tours.

Ed Williams and family have already left on their Western tour, and will be in the convention city at the time of the meeting. The Texas delegation will have some splendid boosters in this fine group, as their reports upon their return will doubtless prove, it was stated.

The Canyon Lions Club received with enthusiasm the program offered by the Methodist Youth Caravan at the regular luncheon meeting last Thursday, July 17. This group of five young ladies has been working for the past week in Canyon, under the auspices of the First Methodist Church. Introducing the program was the Rev. Hubert Thomson, who challenged considerable interest by asking the members to identify the region from which the girls came, from their peculiarities of speech. The two from Texas, and one each from Missouri, Mississippi, and Louisiana were correctly located by a surprisingly large number of club members.

Miss Lucille Hester, counsellor of the group, outlined the largest aspects of the movement and the types of activities undertaken by the teams trained for the local appearances. Miss Jane Lawrence told of the work carried on with intermediate age groups.

Miss Katherine Carpenter explained the various activities offered in the recreation program. Miss Marie Herndon gave a resume of the special phases of inspirational programs. Miss Juanita Cardozier gave two musical numbers and Miss Jane Lawrence a reading to complete the entertainment features.

2 Men Charged As Results of Highway Wrecks

D. M. Wakefield, 33 years old, Tulia, was charged with driving while intoxicated and with failure to have a driver's license, and H. V. Potts, of Amarillo was filed on for driving while intoxicated as the result of two collisions which occurred near Canyon during the past week.

Mr. Wakefield was brought to Neblett hospital by Griggs-Warren ambulance where he received emergency treatment after the automobile which he was driving struck the rear of a gasoline truck on the highway 3½ miles south of Canyon near Dreamland Cemetery, about 1:30, Friday morning.

Sheriff M. E. Cantrell said the Wakefield car, in which 14-year old Iva May Dustman of Tulia was a passenger, struck the rear of the truck on the right side as both vehicles were traveling south on the highway.

The automobile caromed off, spun around the truck and came to rest against a fence on the opposite side of the road. The young girl and the driver of the truck, Thomas W. Ritchey of Floydada, escaped injury. Mr. Wakefield was taken to the Tulia hospital after receiving treatment here.

The second collision was brought about when the green DeSoto sedan, driven by Mr. Potts, completely demolished a trailer-house which was being pulled behind a car belonging to an Oklahoma family who were en route to their home after working in the potato harvest at Hereford. Mr. Potts paid the family damages for the trailer but still faces the other charge.

Mr. Pott's car was damaged but no one was injured in the accident.

Interesting Observations Given On Randall County's Record Crop

The record wheat crop of 1947 for Randall county is now history. There remains only a few car loads of wheat to be picked up from the ground before it can be said that harvest is done, according to the following report by W. H. Upchurch of the local AAA office.

Many interesting observations might be made on the production and handling of the largest crop on record in terms of total bushels. Preliminary figures indicate that the 1947 crop will be at least one million bushels more for the county than the previous high year of 1944 in which 3,677,000 bushels were produced. This year was not the best crop in terms of yield per acre. The 1944 crop made an average per acre yield of 22.3 bushels per acre. The acreage in that year was just under 165,000 acres for the county as compared to this year's all time high of 275,000 acres, Mr. Upchurch explained.

Hail damage this year was more extensive, over the county as a whole, than for any year since 1930. Two days of hot wind early in June, which cut the yield on a considerable acreage, was another handicap which does not occur often but did serve to hold down the total yield for 1947.

A tabulation of the first 129 individual farm yield reports received in the County AAA office to July 15 indicates an average yield of 17.8 bushels per acre. Since these farmers' reports are from all sections of the county they are considered to be a fair cross section sample.

If the final figures check as near to the first preliminary tabulation as is usually the case, the total for the county will be nearly 4,890,000 bushels. An interesting comparison might be made between the value in dollars of this record wheat crop and the previous high year (1944) value, of all agricultural production, including all livestock and livestock products, which was just under $9,800,000. "If we count the 1947 wheat crop alone at $2.00 per bushel we get a very similar figure," Mr. Upchurch said.

To avoid misleading the public in regard to the dollar profits from wheat growing, a comparison should be made in which the low income years, as well as, the high ones are used. For instance the average wheat yield for the fourteen years, 1928 through 1941 was less than eight bushels per seeded acre. The average price of wheat to the grower during those years, as every farmer knows, was less than $1.00 per bushel and for part of that period the farm price of wheat was less than 50c per bushel.

Very little arithmetic is required to illustrate the lack of profit in wheat growing during the fourteen years preceding World War II. Of course, a conveniently short memory is generally preferred in review-

Plains Museum Committee Maps Completion of Drive for Funds

Completion of Unit Two of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum on the campus was approved by directors of the society last Saturday in a special meeting and a drive to raise at least $50,000 for the purpose is to be set in motion at once.

The 30 counties of the Panhandle will be approached with a quota of approximately $2,000 for each county.

The fund will be used to plaster inside walls and lay terrazzo floors, to erect stairways, and to purchase the most-needed cases and furniture.

"At present costs, it is impossible to estimate even approximately what the work we need done will cost," explained Hermon C. Pipkin, chairman of the building committee. "Costs constantly vary on both labor and materials that no one can have any certainty about the exact amount we will need. And finishing work, such as that which remains to be done, apparently is the most expensive of all."

"People of the Panhandle realize the value of the museum as a drawing card to tourists from all over the country and as a visual education course for their children," asserted Harold Bugbee of Clarendon, president of the society, as he presided at the meeting in the Gold Room of the Amarillo Hotel.

"I think we can count on them to meet our appeal and enable us to complete Unit Two as it should be completed," he said confidently.

Funds Exhausted

When called upon for a report on financial condition of the society, Dr. L. F. Sheffy, secretary, revealed that funds on hand at present will barely suffice to cover outstanding obligations on the portion of the project just finished. This work has been to erect walls and a roof over the basement of the second unit in order to save portions of the first which were endangered by weathering.

Emphasis was laid by the directors on the Panhandle-wide scope of the museum and its exhibits and on the memorial it represents for the pioneers of the region.

"You won't get my gun collection until you can take care of it properly," declared O. T. Nicholson of Shamrock, who has given the country's outstanding collection of guns, equalled only by the one at the Smithsonian Institute. "I won't give it to you to stick away in the basement where people can't see it. And my wife is going to leave me if I don't get it out of our house!"

Visitors Losing Opportunity

He further went on to say that visitors to the museum are being deprived of a great deal in not being able to see the James D. Hamlin collections of furniture and art, already donated, and others which cannot be exhibited.

Directors present were: R. T. Alexander, Canadian; M. K. Brown, Pampa; C. P. Buckler, Pampa; Harold D. Bugbee, Clarendon; Woods Coffee, Jr., Silverton; John O. Colquitt, Dalhart; Ray Daniel, Amarillo; O. H. Finch, Dalhart; Wiley Fox, Dumas; Lawrence Gruver, Gruver.

J. Evetts Haley, Canyon; Dr. Ples Harper, Canyon; Dr. J. A. Hill, Canyon; Fred Hobart, Pampa; Winfield Holbrook, Plainview; John L. McCarty, Amarillo; A. A. Meredith, Borger; O. T. Nicholson, Shamrock; H. Y. Overstreet, Farwell; S. R. Pinkston, Wellington; Hermon C. Pipkin, Amarillo; Frank J. Shaller, Canadian; Dr. L. F. Sheffy, Canyon; Judge Reese Tatum, Dalhart.

Alex O. Thompson, Hereford; Earl Vandale, Amarillo; W. P. Walker, Crosbyton; David M. Warren, Panhandle.

Each member of the 75-man board of directors will be held personally responsible for contacting people in his county in an attempt to meet his quota. An action of the group meeting Saturday was to authorize the appointment by the president of a special committee to assist any director who expresses a desire for help.

MARSHALL PLAN

The Marshall plan, as described by the Secretary of State in his Harvard University address and afterwards amplified, is the clearest statement yet made on United States foreign policy as it applies to the rehabilitation of Europe. Secretary Marshall decisively disposed of the idea that this country would continue to pour goods and money into Europe whether or not the receiving nations did anything substantial to help themselves. He made it plain that we would do everything in our power to advance the cause of European economic recovery—but that an essential condition is that the suffering countries work out a plan of their own to make maximum use of their resources, to increase production, and to practice self-help on the largest possible scale.

The Marshall plan is thus more than a mere extension of the Truman Doctrine. The Doctrine, as practiced in the past, consisted of material aid to foreign nations with few strings attached. It was in the nature of an emergency measure to deal with an emergency condition—as in the case of the Greek loan. The Marshall plan is much more specific and is designed to be of a permanent character.

Some hard economic facts underly the Secretary's policy. It has become evident that there is a limit to the amount of goods we can sell, give or loan to Europe. At the present time, for example, only one basic commodity, wheat, is in excess production here. A number of essential commodities are still in short supply, and production is barely adequate for our own needs. Heavy buying of such commodities for foreign use has undoubtedly been a factor in forcing up prices in our domestic market.

No one was surprised at the Soviet Union's efforts to sabatoge the plan. It seems undeniable that the Soviet leaders are convinced that want and unrest create a fertile breeding ground for the communist ideology, and are determined to fight democratic influences in every possible manner. Russia's objection was the old one to the effect that the plan marked another step in America's imperialistic march toward world domination, and that it would involve intolerable interference with the internal affairs of other powers. Secretary Marshall promptly answered that in a strong speech before the Women's National Press Club. He said categorically that assistance furnished foreign countries would be used only for relief or economic rehabilitation, and that it "should not be expended to serve selfish economic or political interests." He did not mention the Soviet Union by name, but the implications were clear when he said that in many parts of the world the United States is the target of "a continuous propaganda of misrepresentation." He pointed out that, far from trying to dominate the internal affairs of other nations, we have rapidly reduced our once-powerful military garrisons abroad, and that "no political parties subservient to United States interests have been left behind in European countries to attempt conquests of governments from within." And, finally, he said that since the end of the war this country has sent Europe $9,000,000,000 worth of goods.

As the relations between the United States and the Soviet Union continue to deteriorate with fateful rapidity, the power blocs in Europe become more firmly established. On our side we have England and France (England is not literally a part of Europe, but is assumed to be so far as political, economic and military policies are concerned). On the Soviet side are almost all of the Balkans and Central Europe. Spain is a question mark, the Franco regime being both anti-democratic and anti-communistic. Some authorities think that Franco is on the skids, and report that underground communist strength in the country is growing. Germany, of course, is torn in all directions, with the Russians carrying on the most intensive efforts to develop their big occupation zone. The hope for a united Europe, so widely held during and immediately after the war, is at its nadir.

The possibility of another war casts its lengthening shadow over all policies, all negotiations. General Eisenhower, who is certainly no war-monger, has said that the chance of conflict within a year must be considered, and has asked Congress for larger Army appropriations. Dr. Einstein, like some of the other top nuclear physicists and mathematicians, has said that a full-scale atomic war is possible in four to eight years. All this is a harsh commentary on the state of the world less than two years after the end of the most destructive war in history.

LABOR DISTURBANCES

One of the most astonishing ideas ever promulgated in this country is that the government should immediately seize and eventually nationalize the coal mines in order to solve the problem of labor disturbances that have created periodic chaos in the industry.

If that is true, it means that the United States government is so weak and vacillating that it must destroy private enterprise in a great industry, and pave the way for socialization of all basic industry, in order to deal with a single union which is controlled lock, stock and barrel by a single man.

From the practical point of view, there is no reason whatsoever to believe that nationalized coal mines would be more productive than privately-owned coal mines. The evidence is all the other way—as the current example of England's government-owned coal industry demonstrates. In all probability, less coal would be produced, and costs would be higher—at the expense of all the taxpayers. All industry would be affected directly or indirectly. We would be unable to meet foreign commitments, and there would be less coal for use at home.

That, however, is of relative insignificance beside the principle at stake. This country is the last citadel of free enterprise left on earth. We are spending billions of dollars in an attempt to keep the rest of the world from sinking into totalitarianism. Soicalization of any industry would be sheer communism—at a time when we recognize that the communist ideology is the greatest threat that freedom faces. What case could we make to the peoples of other nations if we accept defeat of our principles at home?

The solution to the coal labor policy is honest collective bargaining between the union and the operators. The new labor law makes that possible. If it does not, it is the duty of Congress to pass legislation that will.

HIGH PRICES

According to the official indexes, the cost of living reached its post-war peak last March. Since then, there has been a slight decline. The widescale price breaks which some forecast for this summer have definitely not materialized.

We should have learned by this time that the price problem is enormously complex, and there is no pat and easy solution to it. Such well meant schemes as the Newburyport plan failed for the reason that they were economically unsound. The average merchant's profit is so small that a ten per cent across-the-board cut, if maintained, would ruin him. The stores which followed the Newburyport idea could not replace their stocks at wholesale prices which would make the lower retail prices possible. They were forced to re-price their goods at levels which reflect today's costs.

The point of this is that it is ridiculous to assume that price control can be effectively exerted at the retail end. Prices are higher because the productivity of labor per man is low—because many kinds of goods are still in short supply—because industry's operating costs have gone up all along the line—and because many government policies feed inflation. Prices will remain high so long as this is true.

Industry — both manufacturing and retailing—knows that prices within the means of the masses of the people are essential to its own welfare and existence. But it can't reduce prices until its costs are reduced.

ELECTRICAL PROGRAM

Within the next few years the electric industry plans to spend a total of four billion dollars on a huge construction program. Every dollar of this astronomical sum will be spent in local communities and the plants and lines it builds will be loaded with every form of taxation the authorities can think up. State and Federal regulatory agencies will be alert to see that electric consumers are given the best possible service at the lowest possible rates. There will be no running of the local citizenry to Washington, D. C., for funds to complete half-finished projects. The power will be comingg from business enterprises that will pay taxes right along with the grocery store, the newspaper, the bank and other local enterprise.

Those areas where socialized power is in full flower cannot look forward to enjoying their normal share of this expansion program. Taxpaying industry cannot compete with tax-exempt, unregulated, politically managed projects. Probably a good part of the four billion dollars which the electric utilities plan to spend will be spent to forestall a future power shortage in the sections of the country which still have confidence in the privately owned electric company. They are planning years ahead—something political projects will never do. As the people who depend upon government power dams have found to their sorrow, appropriations from Congress are a precarious foundation on which to build any plans because politics is always the motivating influence, not real need or rsponsibility.

It is indeed encouraging to find an industry that has been badgered for more than a decade by deliberate efforts of powerful political groups to put the government into the power business, still with America to launch a four billion dollar program of construction. It will be a sad day for our country if th socialists should ever succeed in killing such initiative in private citizens—if favor of the unimaginative stop-gap fumblings that characterize the bureaucrat in business.

COUNTRY'S RESOURCES

The people of the United States have reached a point where they must face facts. We have been taught to look upon our country as a land of inexhaustible resources. We have lived in sort of a dream world created by our own wishful thinking. We have been told by so-called economists that wages could be raised almost indefinitely without an increase in the cost of living. We have been told that we could go in debt almost indefinitely, on the theory that when government borrowed from the people it was not really a debt because the people merely owed the money to themselves.

Now we face the Frankenstein we have built. We have found that more wages for less production per man raises prices enormously. We have found that when we loaned money to ourselves in the form of government bonds, interest on that money has to be collected in taxes and paid to ourselves—this in turn adds greatly to the cost of living.

General Eisenhower has now told us in plain language that with the present condition of the world, it is possible we will be in another war within 12 months.

There is only one way the people of the United States can save themselves. As workers we must learn that an increased income can only be made permanent through increased production per man; we must learn that only by work and saving and economy can we maintain a solvent government, i. e., save the money we have "loaned" to ourselves. It makes no difference whether we allow extravagance in government or extravagance in our families—either will destroy our savings and capital. We must all learn that in a world economy largely devoted to a race for military supremacy and to the quickest and most efficient means for destroying the human race, we must be prepared to protect ourselves.

Today we are like a giant who has become soft due to his own excesses. Unless we correct our method of living, we are simply inviting trouble. We have had our warning. We have seen the inevitable results of policies we have pursued. Are we intelligent enough to correct our errors?

GI LOANS GOOD RISKS

The Wall Street Journal recently described what has happened in the case of the 67,000 government-backed business loans made to veterans since January, 1945.

By and large, the GIs have proven good risks. As of May 25, the last reporting date only 1412 loans had defaulted, though 3118 other borrowers were behind in payments.

Blackest spot has been loans to start little trucking businesses. Percentage of failures has been very high here, due largely to the fact that the ex-service people ran their equipment to death and didn't service it properly. This seems to have been a hangover from their war experiences, when motor equipment was expendable.

Whole canned tomatoes are being edged out of the market by tomato purees, pastes and sauces. Reasons: (1) Women find concentrates more economical and convenient; (2) canning whole tomatoes requires more hand labor than concentrates; and (3) concentrates require less scarce tin plate.

HOW TO USE THE TELEPHONE SKILLFULLY

Even the simplest things—and telephoning is one of them—are easier and more satisfactory for the person who knows the best way to do them and then DOES them that way.

If you know the right answers to these four questions about using the telephone, you'll have a key to better telephone service.

Question: What is the best way to answer the telephone?

Answer: It's usually best to identify yourself at once. "Mr. Hopkins speaking" helps start things off right—especially if the caller may not recognize your voice. It's much better than "Hello."

Question: Can the person I'm calling hear me better if I talk loudly?

Answer: It's better to speak in a normal voice—clearly and distinctly—with your lips about a half inch from the transmitter.

Question: Can I get the operator's attention faster by "jiggling" the receiver hook up and down rapidly?

Answer: No! When you move the hook too fast, it often brings in no signal at all. Move it slowly for better results.

Question: When I'm talking on a party line, how do I know if another party wants to call?

Answer: You may hear him lift the receiver. If so, the neighborly thing to do is finish your conversation as soon as convenient so he can make his call.

Tulia Celebrates 57th Anniversary At Annual Picnic

Thursday, July 17, was the 57th birthday for the town of Tulia, Swisher County, and was marked again this year with the annual birthday party and celebration. This is the highlight of the year's activities for Swisher County people and their many friends from other places who attend the event each year.

Picnics have had to be curbed in recent years due to shortages and high prices in certain felds, but the birthday was celebrated even during the war years.

Dates Announced For Top O' Texas Rodeo Horse Show

Annual Top O' Texas Rodeo and Horse Show, at Pampa, has been set for August 6, 7, 8, and 9. The Rodeo this year will feature four night performances with the horse show taking up the afternoon sessions.

The Top O' Texas Rodeo is one of the few big amateur shows in the nation. Last year's show attracted between two hundred fifty and three hundred contestants and is expected to surpass that mark this year. The Cow-girl Sponsor Contest will again be one of the special added attractions.

Postwar Spending Boom Is Shadow Of Former Self

It will certainly not come as a shock to newspaper readers to be told that the great postwar spending boom is but a shadow of its former lusty self. It has tapered off in almost all lines, and in some fields it has practically come to a halt. Many of the present speculations of economists deal with the question of whether we are approaching a depression or a recession—the latter being, of course, a sort of midget-size depression. Opinion on this runs the whole gamut, from the optimists who think business and employment will hold at high levels, after certain "corrective readjustments" are made, to the pessimists who forecast darkly that what is coming will make the '30s look like giddy prosperity.

Regardless of the guesswork, some of the economic facts of the time are worthy of sober thought. One of the best summings-up recently appeared in the Wall Street Journal, under the by-line of a staff correspondent, Vermont Royster.

Mr. Royster, whose sources are largely governmental, starts out by observing that "the nation's families are going back to the old American custom of living off next week's pay check." What this means is that the cash buyer, whose name was legion during and immediately after the war, is becoming harder and harder to find. During 1946, consumer credit increased by $2,400,000,000. In March of this year installment credit alone jumped $70,000,000 and was 65 per cent higher than in the same month in 1945. In other words, the American family is returning to the little down and a long time to pay system of buying what it wants.

As is to be expected under these conditions, savings are dwindling. According to Mr. Royster, nearly half of the $25 government bonds purchased in 1945 have been redeemed a year later, and the rate seems to be increasing. And where, in 1945, the nation's families were saving nearly 24 per cent of their income, the rate has slipped down to 10 per cent—about where it was in 1940. It is highly significant that this has occurred in spite of wage increases for most workers, and indicates just how tough the rise in the cost of living has been on the typical family.

The volume of business is showing signs of suffering from these trends. As is to be expected, businesses of the luxury character have been hit hardest so far. A long time ago the night clubs and the taverns began to feel a pinch. Amusement enterprises have been subjected to the bleak wind of declining patronage. And now semi-luxuries are facing a steady drop in purchasing.

In more staple lines, business is still good, but there are clouds on the horizon. Production is rapidly making up the backlog in the majority of lines, and has more than caught up in some. Retailers are buying much more carefully than in the past. Inventories are growing rapidly in both wholesale warehouses and on the shelves of stores. Once hard-to-get items — men's shirts and nylon stockings are good examples—are now in almost superabundance.

Mr. Royster says that "the building boom, counted on to take up the reconversion slack, has failed to live up to expectations." This was one of the great fiascos of the postwar economy. The experts confidently figured that millions of homes and other residential units, to say nothing of a vast amount of industrial construction, would be needed. It may still be needed—but people just won't pay the current prices if there is any way to avoid it. Many a returning veteran who thought in terms of the kind of home you could buy in 1940 for eight or ten thousand dollars found that an equivalent home cost twice that and often more. His GI loan wasn't sufficient to finance the kind of house he had pictured in his mind's eye, and his income wasn't enough to make the monthly amortization payments. So, if he could find any kind of a place to live, he didn't build or buy. Trouble ahead is forecast for ambitious residential sub-divisions where the costs of the houses and other developments outran the estimates by an incredible amount. On top of that, many people, including GIs, who did buy on small down payments, have given up and are letting the properties go. They simply can't afford to pay for and maintain them.

Mr. Royster says the unemployed now total 2,400,000 people. The trend is up—though not alarmingly so as yet. The Bureau of Labor Statistics now concedes that the number of workers gainfully employed this summer will be below earlier predictions. This is inevitable in the light of conditions.

Some producers, such as the motor-car companies, still have big backlogs of orders, and sales are no problem. But that doesn't mean that everything is rosy. Manufacturers and dealers are definitely worried as to what will happen once the backlog is wiped out. Many a prospective buyer has shaken his head at sight of the price tags on the new cars. Thousands upon thousands of orders have been cancelled.

What it all adds up to is that the basic cost of just plain living is absorbing most of the average family's income, and it has less and less left for other things. That is the growing problem as yet unsolved.

Hollabaugh-Crow Vows Exchanged In Impressive Candlelight Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. BILLIE RAY CROW

Miss Gene Hollabaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Hollabaugh of Canyon, became the bride of Mr. Billie Ray Crow, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crow, also of this city, in an impressive candlelight ceremony performed in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Thursday evening, July 17.

Dr. Roy L. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the service before an improvised altar which was decorated with pink roses, baby's breath and fern. Flanking the altar on either side were white wedding baskets of pink roses and fern and seven-branched candelabra bearing lighted cathedral tapers.

Nuptial selections included "Because" and "Indian Love Call," by Mrs. W. O. Nunley, and the traditional wedding marches were played for the processional and the recessional. Background music was provided by Mrs. B. D. Clinton while the vows were being exchanged.

Rita Jo Crow, sister of the bridegroom and Wynelle Montgomery, niece of the bride, wearing pink and white net over taffeta, designed after the bride's dress, lighted the tapers preceding the ceremony.

Mrs. W. E. Cawthorn attended the bride as matron of honor. She was attired in a dress of grey crepe with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

W. E. Cawthorn served the bridegroom as best man.

For her wedding the bride chose a street-length dress of white taffeta, fashioned with sweetheart neckline emphasized by a pleated ruffle, and fitted bodice with matching accessories. She carried a white Bible topped by an orchid and showered with satin streamers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of black and white sheer with black accessories and a corsage of white roses. The bridegroom's mother wore black sheer with white accessories and her corsage was of red roses.

Following the ceremony the bridal party was feted with a reception in the home of the bridegroom's parents.

An arrangement of pink rosebuds and fern centered the white satin covered bride's table which was high lighted by the three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Miss Lois Franklin presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Dick Gillham served the wedding cake. Miss Ruth Prichard was seated at the guest book.

For traveling the bride wore a white arelac suit with black patent accessories and an orchid corsage.

Members of the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom were present for the wedding and reception.

ing the good years. It is generally agreed that methods and machinery have been improved to the extent that yields will not return to the low levels of the previous periods of low rainfall. Perhaps the machinery for price determination will function so as to prevent a return to the levels of previous low prices.

Some are buying land on the basis of the optimist's calculations. A piece of good wheat land, well located, in Randall county, was sold last week for $90.00 per acre. This same land changed hands 28 years ago, in 1919 (World War I boom), for $60.00 per acre. It also changed hands 29 years before that, in 1890, at $2.00 per acre. There is no such thing as a static condition in the Panhandle.

The parity price for wheat on July 1 this year was $2.03 per bushel. Farmers have been enjoying a parity market for wheat, the past few days, for the first time in recent years except when Government payments were added to the market price to equal parity in a few cases.

The Government price support on wheat for the 1947 and 1948 crops is being offered under the war time legislation known as the Stegall Act. This law protects growers of certain commodities, the production of which was increased in the war effort, up to 90% of parity (U. S. average July 1 for wheat) for two years after the end of the war, Mr. Upchurch concluded.

Rain Puts Water In Amarillo Lake

Amarillo City Lake near Canyon has water in it again after being dry for some weeks. At least it has some water. A rain which fell only in that section caused a rise which filled the channel about the middle of the lake, according to a report this week.

Rains early last spring put water in the lake, but it dried up some time ago.

FACING THE FUTURE WITH Hope

Out of the church this couple comes to face a future that's unknown. With HOPE as their watchword and FAITH as a shield they have made themselves one in the sight of the Almighty and are determined to sail the uncharted seas of time together.

The same church under whose watchcare they grew up now has furnished the setting for their holy matrimonial vows. Now they are one of the greatest institutions—HOME. One of their chief responsibilities will be to see that their church has their help in filling its most worthy mission upon earth. Be sure to attend the church of your choice regularly.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good.

Inventors Tell of Latest in Gadgets

Women Found Percolating Brain Children.

CHICAGO. — The question "What's New?" has more than 600 answers, according to a new digest-style magazine. They are contained among ideas listed in the Digest of New Inventions, published by National Foundation for Science and Industry.

Alfred R. Babcock, who launched the foundation a year ago as a non profit clearing house to help bring inventor and manufacturer together, reported inventions flowed in from every state, Canada, Panama Canal zone and Guam.

Women, Babcock noted, are percolating brain children just as are the men.

Mrs. Ida Mae Price of Marked Tree, Ark., submitted a combination ashtray and cuspidor for cigar smokers in the home.

Mrs. Anna G. Besch, Bellwood, Neb., invented a lunch kit with a spill-proof bowl so husband and children could have hot soup with their lunch.

As for the men, Charles Berwinkle, Raven Rock, W. Va., invented a mobile worktable-chair unit for wounded veterans and invalids.

W. G. Bolcom, Duluth, Minn., offered an automatic somersaulter. It "imparts to the user the benefits of turning somersaults without the inconvenience, the difficulty or the physical effort of the normal manner."

A new kind of shower bath attachment sent in by A. V. Richardson, Dorchester, Mass., would give the bather scented, softened, ready-lathered or clear water as desired.

Then there were a foolproof safety pin, a nail with a breakable head for simple removal of the nailed object, a rotary windshield wiper for automobiles and trucks, a plant vitamin hypodermic for use in the garden, a two-minute electric dishwasher, a new kind of camera for taking dimensional pictures, and hundreds of others.

Only patented items or those with patents applied for could be accepted for publication in the digest, Babcock said.

Dogs Allowed to Bite Mailman Only Once

DETROIT. — Detroit's thousands of pet dogs face a stern federal edict. They have been forbidden to bite the mailman more than once.

Postmaster Roscoe B. Huston announced that mail delivery service would be cut off to any home whose canine pet exceeds the limit.

Perhaps unknowingly, the government reverted to an old principle of English common law, which holds that a dog cannot be penalized for his first bite.

With Troops for Five Years, Boy, Now 17, Ordered Home

FRANKFORT, GERMANY. — A 17-year-old Texas boy who ran away from home at the age of 12 and spent five years knocking about Europe and Africa as a mascot of American troops was ordered sent back to the United States.

An American military government court convicted Antonio Brandez of entering Germany illegally and wearing a United States army uniform without authority.

Brandez's career began in 1942, when he left San Antonio and stowed away on a ship to England. There he attached himself to American troops, and as their mascot flew with them to Africa, then followed them across Europe all the way to Germany.

He went home with the troops after V-E Day, stowing away on a troopship. But he found his mother dead and he soon tired of life in the United States, so back he came to Germany in 1946—again as a stowaway.

Once more he joined an American military unit as mascot. He was arrested at Munich, but escaped. Recaptured and sent to Bremen for deportation, he escaped again. He made his way to Frankfort and then headed for Paris. But the French arrested him in Strasbourg and returned him to the American zone.

The small, dark skinned youth said his father, Raymuno Brandez, now lives in Kingsville, Tex.

Mouth-Breeding Fish Is Main Attraction at Museum

SAN FRANCISCO. — The San Francisco aquarium is directing the attention of visitors to its female Egyptian mouth - breeding fish, whose mouth now is full of eggs being hatched.

William B. Richardson, tropical fish expert at the California Academy of Science, explained that the fish picks up her eggs after they have been fertilized and holds them in her mouth until they hatch.

During the 15-day incubation period, the little fish refuses all food. And after the young are hatched, the mother carries them in her mouth. They venture out occasionally, but when danger threatens they quickly swim back into their mother's mouth—until they get too big.

The man who coined the phrase "easy payment plan" was mighty careless with his words.

Facilities Needed To Supply World With Plenty Oil

There is plenty of oil in the ground, an expert recently pointed out, to meet the world's enormous requirements. The problem is to build and expand the facilities needed to produce, refine and transport it.

That is why the oil industry's current development program is the greatest on record. Most of the plants constructed during the war were for special military purposes—such as the production of aviation gasoline and toulene for TNT—and are of little value for peacetime use. As a result, the industry is devoting all of its energies to new drilling programs, and the construction of new pipeline systems, refineries and other facilities. The goal is to meet consumer needs with a minimum of dislocations.

In addition, the industry has an intensive program for improving oil recovery, and for getting the maximum amount of usable products from each barrel of crude. Competition between the thousands of companies making up the industry is extremely keen. The company which stands still will have small hope of survival.

Our own oil needs have risen 28 per cent since 1941, and the appetite of the rest of the world is voracious. American enterprise—here and in foreign lands—is meeting the problem with typical American initiative. The industry, with its wealth of resources and technical "know-how," is confident of success.

Terrible Toll of Fire Victims Due To Carelessness

Speaking over a recent radio broadcast sponsored by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Hohde, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, told of the terrible toll fire takes among the children of the country.

In 1944, said Mrs. Rohde, 6,000 children under five years of age died in home accidents—and burns accounted for 2,000 of their number. In 1945, 7,500 children seriously crippled from burns were being cared for by state agencies. The number of similar victims in private homes is not known, but must be far greater.

"These children died or were crippled needlessly," added Mrs. Rohde. "These tragedies in most instances were due to adult carelessness or negligence. Let us not wait until tragedy has brought the full force of this to us. Let us begin a campaign of prevention at once."

It is not the children who make the mistakes of omission and commission that are responsible for most fires. It is not the children who are inexcusably indifferent to the danger. It is, instead, parents who fail to take the simple precautions that will prevent the great majority of fires—and the communities which lack adequate fire safety laws.

The ghastly toll will continue to grow—until every adult in the country joins in the campaign to conquer fire.

Secretary Marshall, on the basis of his experience in China, is not yet convinced that the Communists can actually win control over the whole country. Marshall is willing to sell surplus ammunition which is of the wrong calibre for U. S. use anyway, but he still resists the rather frantic proposals of some of his Cabinet colleagues to go all out for Chiang.

Gist of Marshall's private message to European leaders is this: There isn't a chance that the U. S. Congress will vote any new aid to Europe unless and until the Continent puts into the pot its own resources of money, commodities and a will to produce.

A uranium scare has all the secret police and international spies in Rome on edge. Three hundred grams of the atomic material, at a million lire per gram, is known to be up for sale. Yugoslav and Russian agents are falling over each other to get it.

Sen. Capper of Kansas places the cost of opposing communism at $10 billion. It has always cost more to put out a fire than to start one.

How to spread the gospel of democracy in a hungry Europe is the problem. One school favors an after-dinner speech.

Alarm clock's in the ash can....

Pardon a slight rap on the dream-center door of your mind—

—But have you done everything needed to help you, someday, throw away that alarm clock forever?

Which is the same as saying—have you a regular, automatic plan of saving? Because that's about the surest way to create a sure, fixed retirement income.

If not, here's how to do it with U. S. Savings Bonds—the best and safest investment in the world. And one which pays a thick slice of interest.

Retirement 10 Years from Now

Two Bonds ($18.75 size) a month will give you $50 a month ten years from now for ten years thereafter. That's from 1957 to 1967.

Retirement 20 Years from Now

If you expect to work 20 years longer, you can approximately double the amount you will get each month for 10 years. (Or you can easily figure how you can spread the return over a longer period.)

That's all there is to it. Just those good U. S. Savings Bonds bought regularly—and earning interest as sure as school keeps. And because there's a nice cash reserve for emergencies, if you should need a lump of money, you can get it in minutes.

How You Buy Bonds AUTOMATICALLY!

Two sure-fire methods. Even more than methods —two positive plans!

One—if you're on a payroll, you buy Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. Millions of people have saved billions of dollars this way.

Two—if you're not on the payroll but have a checking account, you buy Bonds at your bank through The Bond-a-Month Plan. Just one transaction needed. Your banker will give you the word on this wonderful new savings system.

For your sake and for your country's, don't wait. Begin buying Bonds now through one of these plans.

Save the easy, automatic way—with U.S. Savings Bonds

Guy Brant Talks To Rotary Club On Trip To Austin

Guy Brant, senior in Canyon High School, reported to the Rotary Club on his trip to Lone Star Boys' State held in Austin last June 8 to 15. His trip was sponsored by The American Legion and the Rotary Club. Three hundred eighteen boys from various parts of Texas attended.

According to Guy the biggest thrill of the trip was his visit to the capitol building. The hight of the dome was especially impressive.

He gave a short summary of the way in which Boys' State was organized and an approximative daily schedule of the activities. The first three days were devoted almost wholy to the election of officers in the city, County and State. In the afternoons boys played off championship games in various athletics.

A governor's ball on the University campus was attended Friday night by everyone except a few who did not wish to go. The boys were also treated to a baseball game in Austin Saturday night.

In closing Guy gave the purposes of Boys' State, and he said, "I think Boys' State has lived up to these purposes, every boy there must have gone home with a greater understanding of the way in which our government is organized, and with a greater realization of the responsibility which will be his in the near future."

He also expressed a hope that Canyon would see fit to send more than one boy in the future.

Visitors were: F. N. Harsh, Hiram, Ohio; Ira Jenkins, Houston, Lewis Armstrong, Holbrook, Arizona; Carl Ernst, McLean; B. W. Musgraves, Canyon; Rol Pease, Tucson, Ariz.; J. H. Patton, Hereford; H. Russell, Graham, Texas; Bob Lindsey, Borger; A. L. Wiggs, Port Isabel, Texas; H. K. Parker, Canadian; Kirk Rogers, Plainview; J. W. Babb, Shreveport, La.; L. W. Jackson, D. L. Lewis, John Oakes, Arthur Osgood, W. A. Askew, Cecil Hunter, Arnold Attebury, Dan Smith, and C. R. McAfee all of Amarillo.

Indian Collection Received To Be Shown at Museum

Arrival of a new Indian collection at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum has been announced by Boone McClure, director.

Consisting of 167 items, the collection is the property of Anna Wolfram Dove and comes from the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, where it has been on display.

From work of Indian tribes on a nationwide extent, Mrs. Dove has such objects as scalp locks, medicine brushes, game bags, headdresses, war clubs, bladder rattles, papoose cradles, leggings and the like. Nations represented are the Ojibways, Sioux, Utes, Navajos, Omahas, Hopis and Winnebagos.

Director Boone McClure will store the collection until space is made available in his already-overcrowded museum for its display. He expects a second installment of the collection which Mrs. Dove upon her visit to Canyon in April, has said she would recall from a museum in San Antonio to combine with the display from Dallas.

Hereford Potato Growers Watch Market Plunge

With potato harvest getting well underway last week, Hereford growers saw the market drop from $3.75 per hundred at the week end to $3.10 to $3.25 by Wednesday afternoon of last week on U. S. No. 1's while government buying of No. 2's had already started.

Shippers were trying to hold the price on No. 2's above the two dollar market without success. Seven cars had been consigned to the government at support levels ($1.12 per hundred).

Yield and quality of the early crop were both good, according to processors. Highest reported yield was in the neighborhood of 200 sacks to the acre.

All six of the Hereford processing and shipping houses were in operation last week.

E. A. McBryde, assistant state director of Production Marketing Administration from College Station; Harry Sullivan, assistant chief of the PMA, of Dallas; and Dennis Poe, purchase representative, were all in Hereford to check over the situation.

According to reports received here, potatoes were being offered to stockman and farmers in this escxtion for cattle feed.

Program Plans Are Complete For XIT Annual Reunion

DALHART—Except for a memorial service speaker, all major program plans for the 11th Annual XIT Reunion in Dalhart July 24-26 are ready, according to Chairman Allyn D. Finch of the General XIT Committee.

The Memorial Service Thursday night, July 24, at 8 p. m. will pay tribute to all pioneers who helped build the Old West and lay foundations for the New. It will be in the First Baptist church auditorium, largest in town, with other churches cooperating. Finch has told Memorial Chairman A. C. Hallmark to get the very best speaker available.

The Reunion—biggest celebration in the West based on the history of a ranch—will resume Friday morning at 11:00 with the Annual XIT Parade, headed by Dr. G. E. Ewbank, marshal for many years.

The salty Buetler Brothers broncs, Brahma bulls and other stock, of Elk City, Oklahoma, will be used for the two professional rodeo performances—at 7:30 Friday and Saturday evenings. The XIT Reunion dances will be held, after the rodeo performances, in the Dalhart Officers Club. A big name orchestra is being sought.

The Committee has again secured rides only from the Brodbeck & Shroeder Carnival. The rides, especially for the kiddoes, will be set up in some convenient downtown location.

Liveliest oil boom in Canada's history, with 10 major companies taking part is 16 miles south of Edmonton. It is doubly important to Canada, second only to the U. S. in oil consumption, because she has been backward in driving test wells and now must import at high transportation costs.

Secretary Anderson Sees Little Need of Grain to Russia

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson reported after a talk with President Truman recently that he foresaw little need for shipping grain to European countries in the Rusisan sphere of influence.

Anderson returned a short time ago from the International Cereals Conference at Paris called by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization. He said that there would be no shipments to Czechoslovakia, which he said was not a deficit nation.

There "may or may not," be shipments to Poland, Anderson told newsmen, adding a personal belief that Poland is in pretty fair shape.

The secretary said the United States does not intend to ship grains into areas where needs are being supplied from other sources. Unofficial indications are, he said, that the harvest in the Russian Ukraine probably will be the best in 50 years.

170,000 firms quit business in 1946, less than half the pre-war mortality rate. Half died from 'natural' causes such as illness or old age of the proprietor. The other half failed due to these main causes: shortage of competent employees, increased labor costs, lack of customers,, lack of capital, rent increases, inability to get equipment or repairs.

PICTURED IN THE UPPER LEFTHAND corner is the bed of a bedroom group Judge J. D. Hamlin of Farwell will transfer to West Texas State and the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum of Canyon when funds are raised for the completion of the second unit. Of elegantly hand carved, highly polished mahogany, the ample four-poster is surmounted by a canopy and drapes of the original handprinted linen. The bed and the wardrobe matching are of Hepplewhite style. In the middle of the left row is the richly ornate Adam console which Judge Hamlin obtained some years ago from England. It is topped by a white-veined black marble surface, upon which rests an equally embellished mirror, which came from an ante-bellum home in Louisiana. A pair of ancient Chinese jars and a hand carved ivory pagoda are set on the console. Lower lefthand picture is that of the sturdy oaken dower chest originally belonging to the Duchess of Gordon. It has a four-inch key in the huge lock which is part of the handwrought iron bands that protected the wardrobe and jewels of the Duchess. At each end and on the bands are the six handles by which her servants carried the chest to her new home after her marriage. Top right is a Jacobean oak chest, hand carved and paneled, bearing the date of its making, 1711. The top is hung with the original handwrought iron hinges, though at a later time, wide reinforcements of oak were nailed with square, handmade nails. The mahogany spinet pictured below the chest came from a museum in England where it had been on display for a hundred years before Judge Hamlin acquired it. In the Judge's personal bedroom is a group of early English pieces he intends for the museum. The canopied bed has as its headboard a six-paneled hand carved width of oak. The six carvings, an antlered buck, a lion rampant, a humorous-looking dog, two heads of men and a stylized circle. Between the two series of three carved panels is a band bearing the handcarved inscription "Lord God Have Mercy Upon Us." At the foot of the bed is a beautifully carved oaken chest with the date 1667. Other pieces of the group are a low chest, shown at the left of the picture and a large three-door wardrobe. Lowest picture is a tap-room group of original bar furniture. It consists of the table and bench shown, the serving table and corner cabinet in the photograph and a long sideboard not to be seen. These and many more valuable pieces will form part of the J. D. Hamlin collection which will take their place in the new fireproof unit. Already he has on display a large number of objects in his case, Chinese and painting collections. Altogether, his gifts will form one of the most valuable bequests to a museum anywhere in the country.

Motorists in northern half of the U. S. get tailor-made gasoline to fit the seasons, but few know it. Three distinct types—summer, spring-and-fall and winter gasolines—save seasonal worries. Summer fuel is made less volatile so it will not vaporize in the tank and cause stalling. Winter fuel is more volatile to give quick starting vaporization for a cold engine.

SHORT SHORT STORY

Best Insurance

By HENRY SUTER

JONATHAN LANGDON waited patiently behind the diamond counter in McLaughton's jewelry store. He was one of the store's oldest clerks, quiet, dependable, efficient. He was pondering over something this morning and his fellow clerk, Philip Smart, in charge of the watch repair section, speedily observed it.

"I'm wondering about the old man," began Langdon. "For the life of me I don't see why he had to take out theft insurance. We've managed without it all the years I've been here and nothing has been taken yet. Burglar insurance, of course. But why spend money to protect yourself against theft out of the store when he must realize what a smart bunch he has toiling for him? Why couldn't he put that money to better usage by slipping me the raise I asked for?"

3-Minute Fiction

"I guess it was that glib insurance salesman he fell for," replied Philip.

"Sure enough, still I think the old man is wasting good money—" The interruption was caused by the entrance of a customer.

This was a portly, middle aged gentleman, immaculately dressed, who would have made an impression anywhere. Langdon greeted him with his most gracious smile.

"Why, it's nothing but a phoney," he cried.

"I want something in a two carat solitaire, the very best you have in the place. It is for my daughter, and I want it as a graduation present!"

Langdon hurried to the safe and brought out a tray of sparkling beauties. Mr. Blake gazed upon them carefully one by one and finally selected one.

Langdon went back and put the rest of the tray of rings in the safe.

"Just let me run up to the hotel and get my check book. You keep this stone out till I get back."

Ten, 15, then 20 minutes lapsed and the customer had not returned to complete his purchase.

Just then the door of McLaughton's office opened.

"Well, Jonathan," he began, "I presume you still think we do not need any insurance and that I should use that part of our budget towards giving you a raise?"

"Well, yes, I do think so really. You know my sales have almost doubled in the last year."

"THAT is true, Jonathan, and I appreciate it. Yet you must consider that in selling diamonds, the store is taking big chances. I don't mean in a hold-up or a burglary. But, just suppose some smooth artist came in here and got away with a valuable diamond."

"Oh! but they couldn't do that with me," returned Langdon promptly. "I've been here 10 years and no crook has ever gotten away with it, yet."

"That's what you think," smiled McLaughton. "Now take that last customer. I watched everything from the start. You, of course, assume that everyone who comes in here is just as honest as you. That is why you left him standing there with a valuable diamond in his possession while you turned your back and put the rest of the tray in the safe. In the minute you were gone, he substituted a phoney diamond and walked right out with the genuine diamond."

"So you saw the whole thing, and let him get away with it! I don't understand. . . ."

"You can come in now, Blake!" called McLaughton.

"Meet Mr. Blake, of the Dependable Insurance system," said the smiling McLaughton.

"Sorry we had to make you the guinea pig, Buddy," Blake began, as he took a sparkling solitaire out of his pocket and placed it upon the desk. "But I just had to convince your boss here how essential it is to have the insurance."

"Take a look at that diamond on your desk, Mr. McLaughton," said Langdon calmly.

"Why, it's nothing but a phoney," he cried.

"Sure," remarked Langdon quietly. "You don't suppose I'd leave diamonds around for strangers to pick up, do you? I made the switch before I put the tray away in the safe. Now, Mr. McLaughton, do I get my raise or don't I?"

Plains Pioneer Dies at Dimmitt

Funeral services for J. D. Burch, 86 years old, Plains pioneer, were conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in the First Baptist Church, in Dimmitt, with Elder Elmo Edwards, pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church, Spring Lake, officiating.

Administration planners in Washington would prefer not to have a formal, international conference to set up the over-all recovery plan for Europe. The feeling is that such a meeting would be too subject to bickering and delays. U. S. preference for implementing the "Marshall Plan" is that the Europeans make most of their arrangements by direct negotiations.

"Watch Your Step" Is 4-H Slogan For Farm Safety Week

"Watch Your Step!" That advice, effectively used by railroads, is being impressed upon rural families by 4-H Club members as a slogan for National Farm Safety Week, July 20-26.

The warning is given as a result of farm and home surveys which show that falls injure more farm people than any other type of accident. Falls on stairs and steps or vehicles are the most common, many of which are due to carelessness and disorderly condition of stairways, workshops and barns.

It is estimated that more than a half million 4-H'ers are receiving training in safety work this year. In addition to checking farmsteads for accident and fire hazards, club members practice and preach safety in driving, walking on highways, and handling farm machinery and livestock.

As incentives for superior records of achievement, merit awards are offered by General Motors in the 1947 National 4-H Farm Safety Program. Honor medals are provided for a maximum of five members in each participating county, and a trip to the Chicago 4-H Club Congress for the state winner. Eight selected state winners will each receive the national award, which is a $200 college scholarship. An engraved plaque will also be awarded the county reporting the most outstanding 4-H safety program in the state this year.

Last year's state winner in Texas was Billy Preston Hancock of Lakeview.

County winners were named in 58 counties.

The National 4-H Farm Safety Program for 1947 is being conducted in 43 states under the direction of the Extension Service.

Children from war-devastated countries on the European Continent will be guests of hundreds of British families this summer. After that the children will be cared for in private homes.

The long deadlock over setting up of the international machinery for governing Trieste may be brought into the open soon by the Western powers. They are growing impatient over the inability to get together with Russia on a choice for Trieste's governor. Russia has proposed two men. Both were rejected by Britain and the U. S. on the ground that they lacked the necessary administrative ability. Nine men suggested by the Western powers have been turned down by the Soviet Union without any explanation.

New Federal Rent Act Gives Five Eviction Grounds

Under the new federal housing and rent act, there are given five grounds for eviction. As long as the tenant pays his regular rent, the new housing and rent regulations stipulate only the following grounds for eviction.

1. The landlord himself wants to live in the property.
2. The landlord sells the property for occupancy by another person.
3. Certain violations of the obligation of tenacy, such as committing a nuisance, using the property for illegal means or using the property for other than living quarters, have been committed.
4. The landlord desires to make necessary improvements or replace the property with new property. These grounds imply the improvement or conversion cannot be done practically with the tenant in occupancy.
5. The tenant occupies nonhousekeeping, furnished quarters within a single dwelling, remaining portions of which are occupied by the landlord or his immediate family.

"If the court decides the matter in the landlord's favor, the tenant must vacate the property within a time limit prescribed by the court," it was advised.

To procure decontrol of these establishments, landlords should obtain proper decontrol reports and application forms from the rent control office.

The employment level in Canada continues to rise. By the end of May there were 30,000 fewer applicants registered with the National Employment Service than at the beginning of the month, and about 88,000 fewer than at the same time in 1946. For the entire spring, a larger percentage of workers was employed than during any similar period in any peacetime year. During the early part of March, when the full effects of the seasonal lull in employment usually are felt, only 3 per cent of the civilian labor force was without work. This compares with about 5 per cent during the same period of 1946.

State Department officials will include in new foreign trade agreements escape clauses which will be aimed at stopping imports which may hurt domestic industries. The Tariff Commission will administer the clauses upon complaints from American businesses.

Atomic Cloud Is Fatal War Tool

Radioactive Mist Is Called Deadlier Than A-Bomb, Senators Told.

WASHINGTON. — Senators were told by Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore airplane manufacturer, that our scientists are working on a radioactive cloud which will be released by planes at great heights without explosion of an atomic bomb.

Appearing before a senate commerce subcommittee considering establishment of a statutory national air policy, Martin said he is not sure this country should turn out too many atomic bombs because of work on this "cloud."

He told reporters that the "cloud" could be of greater military value than the atomic bomb, except that it might "boomerang" because it would drift with the wind and might come back and destroy American armies.

Urge Air Program.

A picture of an American aviation industry "slowly bleeding to death" and in urgent need of a five-year production program backed up by a definite government policy also was drawn for senators by representatives of the industry.

They told of a "financial crisis" in the industry because of sharp contraction of production and of a great need for long-range planning in research and development if Britain and Russia are not to outstrip the United States in technical advances and number of planes.

The group endorsed a bill by Chairman Brewster (Rep., Me.) to create a national air policy board composed of the secretaries of state, war, navy and commerce and two members each from the senate and house.

Oliver P. Echols, president of Aircraft Industries association and a former major general of the air forces, said the nation is not maintaining "a minimum industry capable of rapid expansion in an emergency."

Plane Output Low.

He reported only 1,330 military planes were turned out last year compared with a minimum annual output of 3,000 recommended by the government's air coordinating committee.

Without a five-year program established by law governing procedure practices and policies, he added, it will be impossible for the armed services "to buy modern aircraft and flying missiles efficiently and economically under the legislation adopted 20 years ago."

He also urged a "healthy commercial aviation" program as an aid in maintaining the aircraft manufacturing industry. This, he said, should include development of new airlines and encouragement of air freight.

He said Russia had continued her wartime plane production, while output in the United States dropped off precipitately beginning with 1944.

This 235-Pound Baby Sitter Finds That Boys Are Tough

BOSTON. — Boston's huskiest baby sitter is George Ramacorti, a 235-pound tackle on the Boston university football team.

Ramacorti, a former day laborer and bomb loader for the army, said those jobs weren't bad at all, "but this baby-sitting is really a tough one."

"They frighten me stiff," he said. "The little ones, I mean. I'm afraid when I pick them up they'll break in two."

Ramacorti finds little girls easier to handle than boys.

"The little girls only want you to tell them a story when they go to sleep just as nice as you please," he said. "But the boys—oh, golly! They really can kick up a fuss. As soon as they hear I'm a football player, they want to get down with me on the floor and try out a few tackles or blocks."

War Department Officials Urge Strategic Stockpiles

WASHINGTON. — Top army and navy officials have urged more stockpiling of raw materials needed for war production and the civilian economy.

Kenneth C. Royall, undersecretary of war, told a senate public lands subcommittee:

"We know that in the world today other nations are providing strategic military stockpiles," he said. "We cannot afford not to do the same."

John W. Kenney, assistant secretary of the navy, endorsed Royall's statement.

United States Halts Grabbing Of Property Owned by Reich

FRANKFURT, GERMANY.—The U. S. army halted all requisitioning of additional German property for military purposes in the American zone of Germany and in Berlin.

A headquarters announcement said that military commanders would not be permitted to seize any German property over and above that already used by Americans.

End of additional requisitioning was announced following recent criticism from German authorities, faced with critical housing shortages.

Few reasons for divorce are as sensible as neglect of buttons and making bad coffee.

Harley Sadler Show Returns To Canyon on Monday

HARLEY SADLER

Vaudeville acts, string and orchestra music along with a generous helping of the Toby brand of comedy such as only Harley Sadler can serve will be in Canyon beginning July 28 and lasting through July 30.

Appearing under the auspices of American Legion, Harley Sadler's company features among others Ray Kimo and his Ranch Boys of Nashville, Tenn., Barn Dance fame.

Diane Forester, actress, singer and dancer, came direct from Hollywood to join Sadler's show. Red Cogburn and his orchestra with Red featured as pianist contributes a share of the almost three hours of entertainment under the big Sadler tent.

Five vaudeville acts alternate with the stage plays. June and Mundee, jugglers, veterans with Harley Sadler who has been touring West Texas with his own company for a quarter of a century; Roland and Russell, brother and sister vaudeville act; Mack Johnston, talented dancer, and Bush and Maskew, vaudeville team, perform against backgrounds of special scenery and lighting effects.

Sadler's shows never lacks variety. The great Baille, magician, special orchestra and string music add spice to a program made for the entire family.

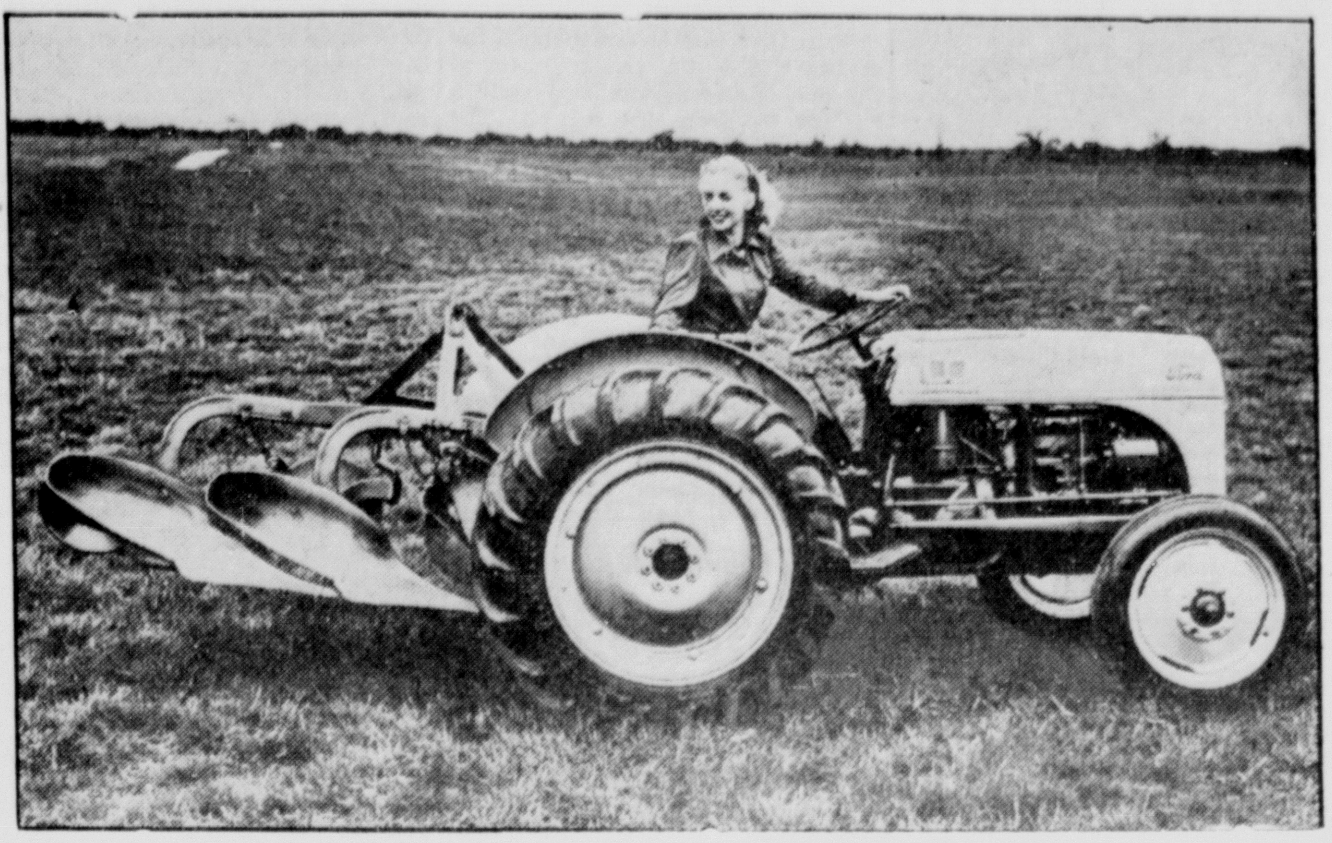
Harley, in red wig and bumpkin attire, appears in Toby roles in each of the down to earth, heart warming melodramas. Absent from the road the past three years because he could not get the kind of talent he wanted, Harley is trying this summer to make up in extra entertainment for the visits he missed with his West Texas friends.

The world's first customs-free airport at Shannon Airport, Eire, is exempted from the imposition of all laws affecting the importation and exportation of goods. Public health regulations, laws relating to animal and plant diseases, currency restrictions and controls on the movements of certain drugs remain in force.

The Indian iron and steel industry is approaching self-sufficiency in the more widely used forms of steel. Capital invested amounts to about $75,000,000. The industry contributes between $21,000,000 and $24,000,000 a year in customs duties and taxes.

Mood of American treaty negotiators is to push through to a final peace with Japan whether the Russians go along or not.

All Set to Go to Work



Farmerette Gloria Carlson seems to be having no trouble operating this new model 8N Ford tractor, as she gives it a try in Clarkston, Mich. Four hundred of the tractors are rolling off the production line at the company's Highland Park plant every day. New features include an improved hydraulic system for implement control and four forward speeds.

"Flying Saucer" Is Declared Prank

Amarillo's "flying saucer" which created a great deal of excitement recently when it exploded in the Hughes-Hayden alley near Twenty-fourth Avenue, was described by the Army as "a heterogeneous assortment of miscellaneous junk," according to news reports.

Practically all parts of the contraption were identified, the information officer said. Parts from radios, refrigerators, electric heaters and various other electrical equipment were strung together, he said. The conclusion was that the appartus would not work, and that it was apparently the invention of a prankster.

The spotlight refuses to remain very long on the European tour of Senora Evita Peron, glamorous wife of President Peron of Argentina. Difficulty is, trouble keeps breaking out at home.

Death on Melons

To intensify the development of agriculture, the Venezuelan Government has set aside 863,000 acres of public lands, most of which will be allotted to Venezuella's farmers. The balance will be reserved for use by European immigrants who will enter the republic this year.

A sure sign of how bad Europe's credit is can be found in foreign nation's failure to pay the interest on American-held securities. Of some $4.5 billion of foreign bonds, owned by American individuals and institutions, interest payments on more than half are in default.

The Germans are discovered to be building concrete boxcars. Does this mean that they have gotton hold of the plans for the $37,500 veteran's bungalow.

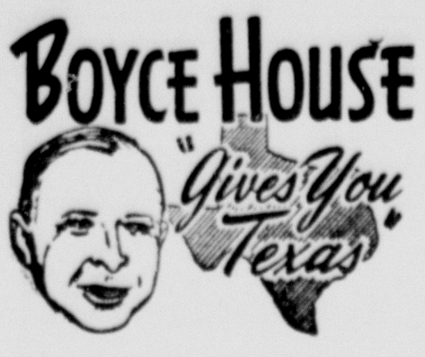
BOYCE HOUSE "Gives You Texas"



While in a South Texas town recently, I was told that an argument arose at ladies' bridge club as to whether when after one cuts the cards before they are dealt, the one making the cut should put the two stacks back together. So (according to the story) they decided to write to a famous bridge expert. He replied that, while there was no actual rule, it was courtesy for the one cutting the cards to put the two stacks together.

With that, the ladies thought the matter closed. But not quite, for at the end of the month here came a bill for $30 from the expert. The club members consulted an attorney in their town to learn whether they had to pay the $30 and he advised them that they did as the man they had consulted was an expert in the field of bridge rules and that such advice was the way he earned his living. So they paid him the $30.

Then at the end of that month came a bill to the club for $10 from the lawyer!

Which reminds me of Mr. Goldberg. His friend, an attorney, said, "You look worried."

"Yes," he explained, "I have a chance to put over a big deal but there is an obstacle." He proceeded to describe the situation, whereupon the lawyer told him how the difficulty could be surmounted. Goldberg made the deal, with a profit of several thousand dollars. Soon after, he received a bill from the attorney for $500 for professional advice. The bill was paid.

A week or so later, the businessman was walking along when he met the lawyer and said, "It's a fine day, isn't it?" Then before the attorney could reply, Mr. Goldberg hastened to add, "Remember: I'm telling you, not asking you!"

Aged Indian Reputed Oldest Living Human

Navajo of 137 Still Continues Work as Retainer.

RUIDOSO, N. M.—Out of this southern New Mexico mountain resort country came the story of a Navajo Indian, Francisco Saiz, reputed to be 137 years old—and possibly the nation's oldest living human.

The account came from a reporter, Miss Mary Nell Taeger of the Ruidoso Weekly News, who interviewed Saiz and said she was convinced of his age.

She found Saiz living on a small farm near out-of-the-way Arabella, N. M., 40 miles northeast of Ruidoso.

The old man makes his home with Simon Sanchez, 74, who related that his family had first become acquainted with Saiz as a middle-aged man in the 1860s.

The Navajo has been a family retainer since, serving Sanchez' mother until her death at 115 and remaining thereafter with the son.

Still active enough to get about with a cane, Saiz attends to all his personal needs and eats three meals a day with his third set of natural teeth.

Miss Taeger said questioning had added these details:

As a youth Saiz was a cowboy and sheep herder. In later years, he was the first freighter for the government from Las Vegas, N. M., to nearby Fort Stanton while troops were stationed at that cavalry outpost.

He recalled Indian attacks on the fort, something of the Lincoln cattle war and Billy the Kid.

Comic Books Are Gone, Jail Trusty Transfers

FRANKLIN, IND.—The Johnson county jail is without its most publicized "guest" again, all because of a few comic books.

Albert Perry, trusty, told Judge Grant Rogers he didn't mind when the sheriff took away his radio because he had been AWOL for five days. But when the sheriff denied him his comic books, that was too much.

Perry was transferred to the state reformatory.

Got Wrong Baby, Parents Say In Filing Suit for $200,000

NEW YORK.—A young mother said that the infant girl she gave birth to several months ago and saw daily for eight days was taken from her by city hospital authorities who forced her to accept another child—a boy.

Mrs. Leonard Sosa and her husband made the charge in a claim for $200,000 damages against the city, asserting that they were issued a birth certificate for a female infant and the hospital had given them the wrong baby.

The couple said that after eight days, the boy was substituted for their girl without explanation. Hospital employees, they said, ignored the mother's pleas for "my own child."

The caesarean birth took place at Lincoln hospital on March 13. The Sosas said that on the second day the mother folded diapers in the baby ward and put a diaper on her own child.

On the same day, they said, a birth certificate was given them for a female child. They said a second birth certificate, designating the child as a male, was sent them after they had taken the boy home.

The couple claimed that the second certificate was signed by a nurse at the hospital instead of by the attending physician.

Seafarers Asked to Look For Pygmy Sperm Whale

REHOBOTH BEACH, DEL.—Seafarers along the Delaware capes have been asked to keep a weather eye peeled for a pygmy sperm whale in the interests of science.

The request was made by scientists at Swarthmore, Pa., college, who want to examine the whale's circulatory system to determine why he is not affected by "bends," a type of cramps suffered by deep sea divers.

The 10-foot, 1,000-pound pygmy whale dives and rises with great speed, but never is troubled with the bends. To avoid cramps, humans have to descend and ascend in deep water in easy stages under controlled air pressure.

22 Japs Now Convinced That War Is All Over

MANILA.—Twenty-two Japanese soldiers rounded up on wild Palawan island were held in Manila, convinced at last that the war is over.

Maj. Richard R. Prewitt of Houston, assisted by Attorney Thomas O'Connor of the Bronx, and 100 Filipino troops of the military police command, captured the holdouts.

For 19 months and seven days, the Japanese soldiers had roamed northwest Palawan, foraging for food and totally ignorant that the war was over. The prisoners were chubby and clean-shaven and, except for three wounded in a fight with Filipino homesteaders, were in excellent health.

Help Keep Canyon Clean!

Despite their avowal to stick to legal means, CIO and AFL labor bosses are planning a grand strategy to defeat the Taft-Hartley Labor Act by strikes. Through same tactics they used in 1945-1946, the big unions plan a series of major strikes, all vital to national security. There's a good chance they will try to drag them out through the summer of 1948.

If Walter Reuther loses the leadership of the CIO Auto Workers, as he probably will with the Commie vote in the union strengthened by the addition of the pinkish Farm Equipment Workers' vote, he will move into Washington as a special assistant to CIO President Philip Murray.

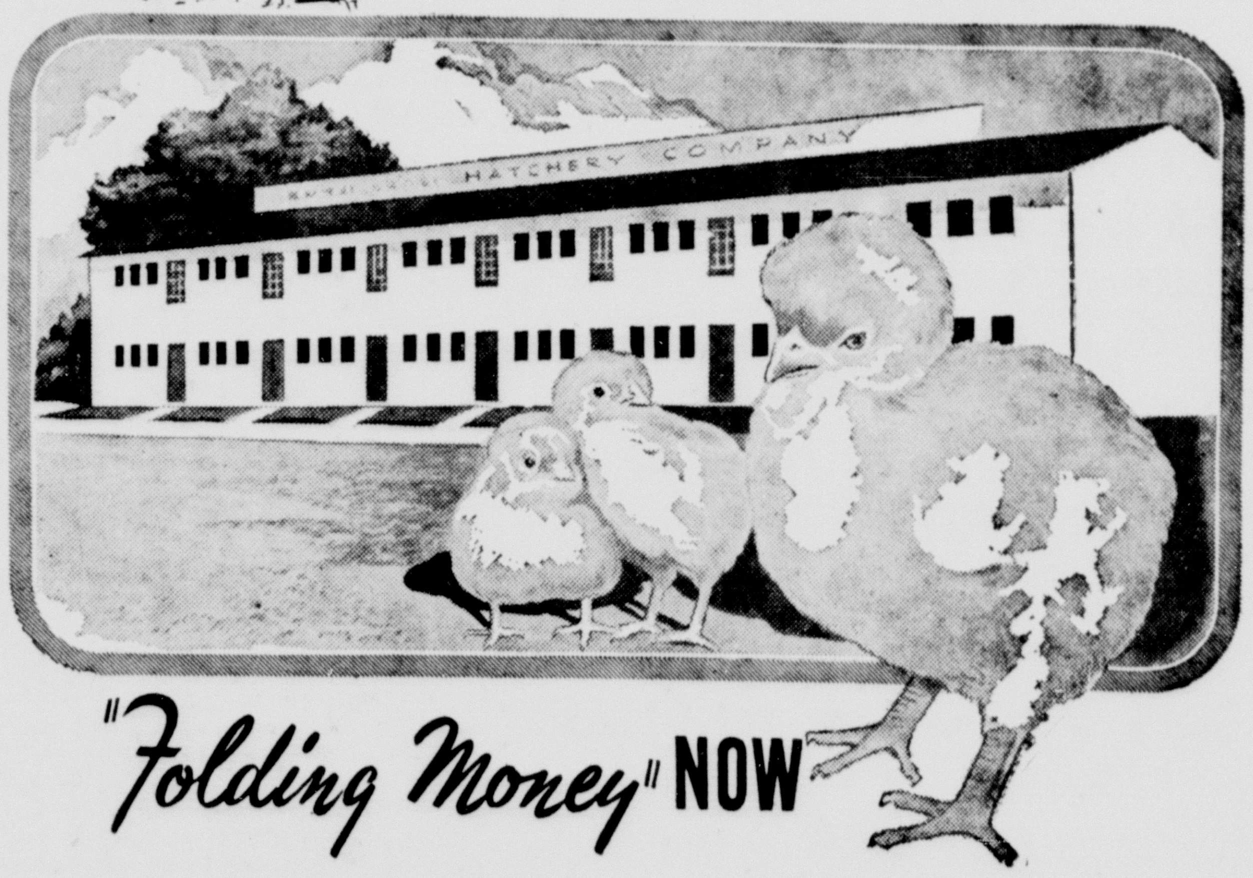
Chicken Feed



"Folding Money" NOW

Poultry raising in our area has come a long way since Mother kept a few chickens for egg money and Sunday dinners.

Today there's a lot of good "folding money" in scientific poultry raising. It's not "chicken feed" any more, for more folks than ever before are making big money in the poultry business in the Panhandle-Plains-Pecos Valley Area.

We have so much confidence in the poultry industry—and all other industries we serve, that we are investing 35 million dollars in a building program. This expansion program in our territory will bring more dependable electric service to industry and farms and better living—electrically—to everyone.

Parents Warned To Guard Against Summer Diseases

Austin.—This is the season when dysentery, diarrhea and "summer complaint" are most prevalent throughout the State, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued a warning to parents of young children regarding the prevention of these diseases.

"The chief causes of these intestinal diseases are impure milk, water and food; allowing a child to become overheated; using too much sugar and cream in the died; and under- or over-feeding," Dr. Cox said. "All foods should be fresh and clean, and left-overs should be proper refrigeration to prevent spoilage."

Dr. Cox said definitely that when a feeding formula for infants is used, it should be prescribed by a physician and then prepared with extreme care, especially in regard to cleanliness and refrigeration. Babies should be fed at regular intervals and on a definite schedule. Their stomach and bowels can become easily upset if they are fed haphazardly whenever they happen to be fretful or restless.

The State Health Officer declared that with dysentery, as with many other diseases, the fly is an agent of transmission, and every home should be well screened and free of flies.

"If diarrhea or dysentery develops, consult a physician at once," Dr. Cox advised. "This so-called 'summer complaint' can become a very serious menace to your baby's health, if not an actual threat to his life."

Texas Leads 45 Other States In Meat Production

Texas led 45 other states in meat production last year, according to a statement just issued by the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Proof of the outstanding role of Texas as a livestock and meat state is also revealed by figures showing that the cash income received from meat animals by its ranchers and farmers in 1946 totalled $398,699,000 of this total, $315,109,000 was received from cattle sales, $50,838,000 from the sale of hogs and $32,752,000 from the sale of sheep and lambs.

Calling attention to the national livestock and meat picture, the Board asserts that 1946 was the fifth consecutive year in which meat production exceeded 20 billion pounds, the meat output for the year reaching 22 billion, 961 million pounds. To produce this meat supply 131,050,000 cattle, hogs and sheep were marketed and processed.

Meat consumption in the United States is on the increase, the Board points out. Civilian consumption of meat in 1946 reached an all-time high with a total of 21 billion, 234 million pounds—or an average of 60 million pounds per day.

Showing further the upward trend in the use of meat on America's tables is the fact that the per capita consumption of this food product last year was 152.8 pounds—27 pounds more per person than was consumed annually in the prewar period, 1935-39.

A new germicide, based on an Army-Navy formula, destroys practically all kinds of bacteria without boiling or heating. Almost odorless, tasteless and non-toxic to humans, it can be used for rinsing dishes, cutlery and glassware—an ounce to four gallons of warm or cold water.

The Nation's retailers will ask Commerce Secretary Harriman to set up a special office within the Department to handle small storeowners' problems. They say it can be done without boosting Commerce's appropriations.

If the boys in Washington and the big brains in the colleges keep on pumping up this depression, we sure will get one.—John Wheeler, farmer, Ridgefield, Conn.

Gov. M.C. Wallgren of Washington hopes to transplant Maine lobsters to coastal waters of his state. Answers Fish Commissioner Reid of Maine: "We don't want the West Coast competing with our lobster business. We'll send the Governor all he wants to eat—but none for transplanting."
